FLORIDA CITY ROUGHLY USED

Not In More Than a Century Has Pensacola Been Visited by Such a Storm—Feared Definite News Will Show Loss of Life.

New Orleans, Sept. 29.—New Orleans early Friday was still cut off absolutely from points on the gulf coast east of here. For 36 hours no information of any sort had come from towns less than an hour's ride by rail in the direction of Mobile and anxiety regarding the situation in those places became intense. The gulf towns are a summer resort for New Orleans and the members of many families have been separated by the storm. All day Thursday and all of Thursday night the washout on the Louisville and Nashville railroad 25 miles from here marked the farthest point east reached by rail, telegraph or telephone.

For hours after the hurricane had passed the 2-mile portion of the railroad tracks which was submerged by the incoming tide was exposed to the equally dangerous outward flow of the receding high water. Local Louisville and Nashville officials Friday announced all trains cancelled until further notice. Friday morning Lake Ponchartrain had calmed and the high water fallen to very near its normal level.

The first reports from interior Mississippi towns indicated that the hurricane did great damage in its northward progress. Vicksburg and McComb City reported buildings injured and Jackson brokehaven reported damage of 10 per cent to the cotton crop.

Dr. W. N. McGallaird, a passenger on the first New Orleans and Northeastern train which came into the city late Thursday night, said the train was compelled to run slow through the storm, with trees continually falling, some of them threatening to block the tracks in their crash. Unroofed or demolished negro cabins were continually passed. Frequently, he said, lashing of the wind and cracking trees made a roar which drowned out the train's rumble.

Pensacola, Fla., Sept. 29.—The worst sea storm and hurricane that the gulf coast has experienced since the village of Pensacola, on San Rosa island, was swept away, 170 years ago, began Wednesday night and is still raging. Every house in the city has suffered damage. Roofs are blown off, telegraph, telephone and electric light wires are a tangled mass, the water front is strewn with wreckage for miles on either side of the city, and vessels are piled on the wharves, or where the wharves were, in utter ruin.

Big iron steamers, and many larger sailing ships, are now lying high up in the city where the tide has never known to have reached before, and every wharf for miles around has been swept away or is damaged beyond repair.

It is reported that many lives between the city and the navy-yard have been lost, but no definite details can be secured. It is known, however, that many of the houses in that section are now under from 5 to 10 feet of water, and many women have been taken from the second story windows and carried to safety in boats.

There is no street car traffic and communication with the outside world is entirely cut off.

The scenes in parts of the city almost beggar description and the streets are strewn with timbers, tin roofing and broken glass.

The Western-Union has men hard at work trying to clear the wires. Telegraphic matter is carried to Flomaton, Ala., by the Western-Union manager, who makes the trip by train to ascertain the exact extent of damage done. It is feared great havoc and loss of life will be shown when reports from the entire section along the coast can be gathered. Estimated damage $3,000,000.

Reports from Monticello, Miss., says that considerable damage was done to pine forests near there, hundreds of trees being uprooted. Trees had fallen across the railroad tracks to such an extent as to practically suspend railroad traffic.

The brief dispatches received here indicate that the losses in the interior towns of Mississippi alone will reach hundreds of thousands of dollars. No heavy damages were reported at any one point, but the storm appears to have demolished a few thousand dollars worth of property in every county and town. Vicksburg reported damage to shipping.

In addition to reports to cotton crop losses, passengers on incoming trains tell of widespread damage to timber. Telegraph and telephone wires were so universally damaged that every town yet heard from reported that at some time Thursday it was cut off from communication with the outside world. Verified loss of life thus far is confined to the death of one employe on the New Orleans and Northeastern railroad, who was run down by a train during the storm.

The first news of the havoc wrought by the hurricane on the lower Mississippi river delta was given Friday by O. Ansel, a pilot, who came up from the mouth of the river on the tug Charles Clark. Ansel said he saw the lower river banks strewn with household furniture of fishermen, but that most of these families had escaped from the high water by taking to their lugger-rigged boats. He saw the wreckage of two or three luggers floating down the river, but was unable to learn what became of their occupants.

At the Mississippi river quarantine station, two houseboats, used for the quarantine of crews of fruit steamers, were sunk. The crews were taken off in safety.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 29.—Up to 10 o'clock Friday morning no word has come from Mobile, Ala., which the tropical storm succeeded in isolating from the world, so far as wire and rail communication is concerned, at 2 o'clock Thursday morning. The one wire to Pensacola, Fla., which Thursday afternoon carried news of great damage and rumors of loss of life there, failed Thursday night, and Friday is numbered with the countless other wires out of service. The storm, which appears central over Arkansas and northern Mississippi Friday, has lost some of its force, but it has caused heavy rains in nearly every portion of the central south, and this condition, together with prevailing high winds, has rendered the problem of wire communication generally even worse than Thursday.

One by one the cities which had almost their usual number of wires in working order Thursday, were lost. Telegraphic service was maintained with other southern cities under the greatest difficulties and in most cases by out of the way routes.

Train service throughout lower Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi is seriously interfered with.

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 29.—Following Thursday night's terrific wind storm, which prostrated hundreds of wires and did much damage in this section, a tremendous fall of rain occurred Friday morning, flooding the streets, and almost bringing business of all kinds to a standstill. Street car traffic was delayed awhile. All trains entering Birmingham are late. No heavy damage has been reported on any of the railroads in this immediate vicinity as yet, but as the rain continues without any signs of abatement, washouts are expected. There is no wire from here further south than Montgomery, so that no additional details have been received from Mobile and Pensacola. Efforts are being made to hear from these places by the way of Meridian. The storm has done enormous damage to cotton in the fields throughout Alabama and Mississippi.

Will Enforce Labor Law.

New York, Sept. 29.—The amendment to the state labor law prohibiting the employment of children under 16 years of age in any line or calling on business after Friday afternoon will go into effect next Monday. The new law is to be vigorously enforced.

ARMORY IS URGED FOR ATLANTA SOLDIERS

Need of Central Building Has Been Proven.

SUM OF $200,000 WILL BE NEEDED

Mayor Woodward Plans For Erection of City Hall In Connection With the Armory—May Bring the Matter Before Council.

Atlanta, Sep.. 29.—The recent trouble in Atlanta, when the military companies were called out, has emphasized more than ever the great need for an armory and large hall in the city. The call for the soldiers was in an emergency when the men were wanted at once in the central part of the city. There was no armory at which the soldiers could assemble and the consequence was that they had to gather in different places and this caused much trouble and delay.

From time to time many of the most prominent citizens have spoken of the urgent need of an armory, and with this has been included a city hall and convention hall.

As early as the summer of 1904, when he was making his campaign for mayor, Hon. James G. Woodward issued a card as one of the platforms on which he based his candidacy and in it he called attention to the great need of an armory for the military and a hall for the city, along with a place where the large conventions could assemble.

Since the experience of the past week both Mayor Woodward and Colonel Clifford L. Anderson have spoken of the urgent need of an armory. Mayor Woodward will doubtless call the attention of the general council to the matter, and Colonel Anderson will take up the matter with him. The colonel was in command of the military in the city and he became aware of the confusion and delay that were incident to the assembling of the soldiers in different parts of the city.

Mayor Woodward is very emphatic in what he has to say. He believes that now is the time for the city authorities to act. If steps are taken immediately, he states, the work of building a city hall and armory can be started early next year.

Colonel Anderson says that the building of an armory is now an imperative necessity and that a good armory will not only greatly facilitate the military in times of outbreaks, but will aid in upbuilding the companies.

As is too well known, Atlanta has not a hall of any kind in which large conventions can be held. She has no armory at all. When large gatherings come to the city they must either go into one of the old buildings at Piedmont park or use the skating rink at Ponce de Leon. The military companies occupy different quarters, using chiefly the second and third floors over down-town stores.

When spoken to about the movement to build an armory, Mayor Woodward said:

"An armory for the military of the city was one of the planks in the platform when I ran for mayor two years ago. I not only advocated such a building in my public utterances, but I issued a card which I had published and in which I stated that there should be no delay in giving the soldiers a home. They go to a great deal of private expense and are always ready to put their lives in jeopardy for the people in times of serious outbreaks. We have just seen what the military are to a community in times of riot. The police did all they could, but it needed the military companies, 1,000 strong, with their rifles, to restore order. The men responded quickly and willingly, but they had no central hall or armory in which they could assemble. I believed two years ago that the city owed it to the soldiers to furnish them with a home, and now I know that that is a duty we owe to the men who saved our city from what threatened to be a serious race riot only a few days ago.

"It will be well when erecting an armory to build a city hall at the same time. The armory can be connected with the hall, and in the same building we can arrange for a convention hall which will accommodate the large conventions that so frequently assemble here. Atlanta is now one of the recognized convention cities of the country, and we have nowhere to take large bodies unless we use an old exposition building or get the Ponce de Leon skating rink, as we did when Mr. Bryan came here. Now is the time to make a move for a city hall, an auditorium and armory, and especially an armory. The present city administration can start the ball rolling and by the time the matter takes definite shape and the preliminaries are arranged the new city administration will come with a clean slate and amply able to take up the work and carry it on. There will be much preliminary work to do, such as selecting a site, making plans and getting estimates of the cost. Such a building as I have referred to is Atlanta's most crying need, and I believe everybody in the city will favor it. And the sooner the work is started the better."

WRECKERS THROW TRAIN.

Fireman Is Killed and Engineer Badly Scalded.

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 29.—Southern Railway passenger train No. 30, northbound, was derailed at Coosawatchie trestle, 5 miles from Allendale.

Fireman Andrew Kemp, a negro, was killed and Engineer J. F. McDaniel was painfully but not seriously scalded. None of the passengers were injured.

The dead fireman, who lived about two hours after the accident, stated that he noticed a rail had been removed from the trestle just as the engine struck the place of accident.

The engine and three cars left the track completely and turned over at the bottom of a 20-foot embankment.

The day coach, which is of the steel type, was the only car not damaged.

All question of accidental derailing was eliminated by the fact that the missing rails were found near by piled together at the side of the roadbed, with the spikes which had held them to the ties strung alongside.

The scene of the wreck is a lonely spot in the center of a district densely populated by negroes of the most primitive type, who have been in an ugly mood lately as a result of the labor troubles in this state and Georgia.

Many of the passengers believe that the derailing of train No. 30, one of the Southern's finest through expresses, was an act of deliberate revenge, planned and executed by the worst element in the surrounding population. Certainly it is hard to explain on any other theory, for robbery was not attempted and nothing has occurred lately that could have inspired them with any particular feeling against the railway company. Railway detectives are already at work on the case.

Miss Lula Tingard, aged 18, who lives at 1212 Main street, this city, was a passenger. She was bruised and suffered considerably from the shock, but rallied and came on to the city.

Two railway mail clerks, Mr. W. M. Lander and Mr. C. Wimpy, both of Jacksonville, were slightly injured. Both have gone back to Jacksonville.

Sam Milney, a negro porter, was more or less bruised and four or five passengers were a little hurt and very badly scared.

Dogs were sent for to trail the wreckers, who had taken up several rails on the trestle and rolled them to one side, removed angle bars and pulled the rail out.

Will Land Marines.

New York, Sept. 29.—There is to be no cessation of active preparations by the war and navy departments to land marines in troops in Cuba. This was evident Tuesday when orders were received from Washington by Captain William H. Reeder, acting commandant at the Brooklyn navy-yard, to prepare a vessel to be used as a transport. The Hancock, which was formerly the Trans-Atlantic liner Arizona, will be prepared for the mission. She was purchased by the United States during the Spanish-American war.

TAFT IS READY TO RULE CUB

If Crisis Comes Taft Will D[illegible] clare Himself Governor.

CRISIS IS NEAR AT HAN[illegible]

Taft Believes Cuban Government O[illegible]ficials Have Been Acting Unfair[illegible] and Marines May Land At Onc[illegible] General Funston Awaiting Order[illegible]

Havana, Sept. 29.—The probabili[illegible]ties of United States intervention i[illegible] Cuba loom up bigger than at any pr[illegible]vious time. In fact, intervention [illegible] close at hand, according to the co[illegible] census of opinion. Many party lea[illegible]ers, while not willing to begin neg[illegible]tiations with their opponents, su[illegible]mitted a proposition regarding th[illegible] negotiations which merely propose[illegible] that they be broken off when difficul[illegible]ties arise.

Senator Dolz, president of the sen[illegible]ate, holds that it is the duty of 'th[illegible] moderates to uphold the constitution[illegible]al authority, but says that if they d[illegible] not reach an agreement with thei[illegible] opponents, American intervention wil[illegible] be forthwith inevitable. He added[illegible] however, that the moderates will d[illegible] everything possible to avoid interven[illegible]tion, even to the extremity of accept[illegible]ing Senator Zayas as president of Cu[illegible]ba and thereafter discussing terms fo[illegible] a final settlement.

This attitude is regarded as only typical of the evasive tactics of the government officials who, in reality, are no more ready to concede the holding of new elections than before.

It now appears that the Cuban congress will have a quorum to consider the resignations of President Palma and Vice President Mendez Capote.

Senator Zayas has summoned a meeting of liberals and independent senators and representatives to take place at his house. Messrs. Taft and Bacon, on leaving the American legation for luncheon Thursday evening, were asked if they considered matters to be in a hopeful condition, to which Mr. Taft replied:

"I do not know; I cannot say."

Brigadier General Funston, who arrived here Thursday on the Olivette, boarded the United States flagship Louisiana Friday morning and conferred with Captain Couden, commander of the naval forces and other naval officers. The general said he was ready for whatever might occur and was simply awaiting orders.

Senator Zayas, leader of the liberal party, was received by Secretary Taft in one room Friday morning, and Senor Montalvo, acting secretary of the [illegible] immediately followed Zayas, was received by Assistant Secretary of State Bacon in another room. When Zayas emerged from his conference with the secretary, he said that there was hope of the success of his plan to have Senator Zanguly, independent, elected to succeed President Palma, and that he would return to the legation soon. Senor Montalvo, who left later, refused to talk for publication. The liberals are trying to persuade the moderates to accept either Senator Zanguly, General Menocal, General Aranmoote or some other independent or independent liberal. The moderates thus far are unwilling to fully commit themselves.

A detachment of marines has begun preparations to distribute the [illegible] ammunition and miscellaneous supplies stored on the Caballeria wharf, among the three battalions of marines ready to land here, orders having been received to have everything in readiness for debarkation. The marines will land should the necessary orders be received at the Paula, Machina and Caballeria wharves. Two battalions will occupy Villa Nueva and the other will be stationed at Punta Park, on the sea front.

President Palma is reported [illegible] friends who urged him to withdraw his resignation, put aside his [illegible] plans and [illegible] ...ended solely by patriotic motives.

"I have been unable to [illegible] I cannot face the issue."

HEAVY SALE OF FIREARMS

It is Stated That $30,000 Worth Have Been Sold During the Riot—Negroes Being Disarmed—Churches Advocate Cessation of Riot.

Feeling that readers of The Sun would feel especial interest in a report of the situation in Atlanta by a resident of Gainesville, The Sun takes the liberty to publish the following extract from a letter written by Mrs. J. E. Futch, now in the Georgia city, to a friend here:

"Regarding the condition of the race trouble which has been going on here: Conditions are much disturbed yet and the trouble begun Saturday does not see it's end now.

"All churches preached against the rioting by whites of Saturday night at services Sunday morning. There was none at many of the churches in the evening. A mob chasing a negro broke up the meeting Sunday evening at Wesley Memorial Methodist Church, white.

"The troops and police keep any more mobs of whites from forming. The people on the outskirts and on streets not in the very center of town have not slept for the past two nights. The women are afraid and the men are on guard, for reasons backed by incidents of Sunday night.

"There has been no trouble since Sunday which was not caused by lawless negroes, and if the negroes do not retaliate the trouble will die away soon. Many negroes are leaving the city. Few have gone to work this week. All factories are closed. Since Saturday night there has been thirty thousand dollars' worth of arms sold. The negroes are being disarmed by the military and police.

"The city is under good control of the military, and as all the saloons are closed and negroes being disarmed, we look for quiet soon.

"Much praise is due to the mayor for the suppression of the rioting that has been done and attempted."

Another Automobile.

Jerry Runkle has "got above" his friends for the past two or three days, since he has received a handsome buckboard automobile which sits high in the air with its occupant, the proud owner. Gainesville is becoming quite an auto town, and it will not be a great while before they will be common about the city.

Friday's Ball Game.

The game of base ball between the Elks and Oak Hall's at the park Friday afternoon was not as well attended as had been expected and desired.

The game only lasted for seven innings, the score resulting nine to five in favor of the Elks.

A SPECIAL TERM.

Levy County Circuit Court Will Try Priest Case in Late October.

Judge Syd L. Carter returned to the city from Bronson Thursday, where he has been in attendance at the session of the fall term of the circuit court of Levy county.

Judge Carter, with other prominent attorneys had been employed to defend R. G. Priest, who is charged with the killing of Marshal I. N. Chance of Morriston on the night of June 12. Inasmuch as there is a great deal of testimony to be taken in this case, and there seems to be so much interest manifested, His Honor Judge Wills decided to call a special term for October 30, at which this case will be tried.

The regular fall term of the court adjourned Wednesday night, after a session of three days.

Prominent Commission Man Here.

E. R. Brackett of New York, head of the firm which bears his name and which handles large quantities of produce, arrived in the city yesterday from Tampa and other points in South Florida.

This was Mr. Brackett's first visit to Gainesville, although he has been dealing with our truckers and fruit growers for many years. He has always treated them squarely, but it was his first opportunity upon this occasion to meet the men with whom he had been dealing, and several were at the station to greet him, having been informed by his representative, Joseph Tinsley, that he would be here.

Mr. Brackett was shown about the city, and expressed great surprise. He stated that, while he knew Gainesville was a good town, he never had the idea of progress here. "You fellows are a lot of hustlers," he said, and if I was going to move South I would certainly select Gainesville as my home, on account of your educational advantages and excellent surrounding fertile lands."

Church Meeting.

To the ministers of the Central District: The eight annual session of the Primitive Orthodox Baptist Zion Association will convene on Thursday before the third Lord's Day in October (being October 18) with Mount Olive Primitive Baptist Church, in the city of Gainesville, Fla. Take due and timely notice and govern yourselves accordingly. Elder M. E. Edwards, Moderator, Island Grove; Elder M. Carter, Chief Evangelist, Gainesville; W. M. Clayton, Clerk, Bell.

NORMAN CUTTER CURED.

Has Been Discharged From Asylum of the Insane at Chattahoochee.

Norman Cutter, a well known character in this city who makes people happy by trimming their lawns and making himself generally useful in yard work, has returned from Chattahoochee, where he was sent a few months ago, after the death of his wife, as an insane person—non compos mentus, as the doctors declare it.

Mr. Cutter was seen yesterday by The Sun representative. He stated that he was well treated in that institution, that he was given all the liberty usually accorded a man who is supposed to be crazy, and that he had enjoyed himself to the fullest extent, because he had been treated nicely and well fed.

Mr. Cutter, it will be remembered, had the misfortune to lose his wife in June, which so distracted him that he was taken before a committee, adjudged insane, and sent to Chattahoochee. He is now completely cured, and hopes to gain back the patronage on lawns and gardens which he lost during his absence from the city.

Friday Last Night.

Friday was the last night of 6:30 closing for the merchants during the present season. It is a custom each year, during the summer months, to close their respective places of business at this hour each day, except Saturday, in order that the clerks may secure the evening for rest or pleasure. This is a most generous act, and as a rule the clerks appreciate it. The season closes on October 1, however, which means that all places of business will be open after supper in future.

SORES AND ULCERS

TROUBLESOME-OFFENSIVE-DANGEROUS

Nothing is more discouraging than to have an unhealthy sore or ulcer resist one treatment after another, sometimes scabbing over as if apparently getting well, then returning with renewed energy and becoming worse than before. Sores and ulcers are not due to outside causes; if they were, salves, plasters, lotions, etc., would cure them. They are kept up by a diseased and polluted condition of the blood brought on by the absorption of refuse and waste matters of the body into this vital fluid. These accumulations find their way into the blood, usually because of an inactive and sluggish condition of the system. Nature intends that they shall be carried off through the usual channels of waste, but the different members failing to perform their duties properly leave the matter to sour and ferment. The blood then, in its effort to keep the system healthy, absorbs these poisons and at the first bruise, cut or wound the sore is formed, and the constant drainage of foul matter through it keeps the place open and irritated so it cannot heal. Another cause for old sores and ulcers is the polluting or weakening of the blood from the remains of some constitutional trouble or the effects of a long spell of sickness. S. S. S. begins at the fountain-head and drives out all poisonous matter and germs, and makes a lasting cure. As soon as the system gets under the influence of S. S. S. the inflammation gradually leaves, the flesh takes on a healthy color, and soon the place is permanently healed. Book on sores and ulcers and any medical advice without charge

LITERARY EXERCISES AT THE UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA THURSDAY

A Large and Enthusiastic Crowd Gathered to Hear Speakers.

WAS A HAPPY GATHERING

Formal Exercises of the Opening of One of the Greatest Institutions of the South in Gainesville Were Held in University Chapel.

With all the splendor and the pomp and the dignity of the glorious State of Florida, every section of the State being represented, the new University of Florida has been launched upon the educational sea, and judging from the beginning, this year will eclipse anything of the kind ever known in the State. Within the next two weeks President Andrew Sledd feels assured that there will be one hundred and fifty students enrolled, against a maximum of one hundred and thirty last year.

All of Gainesville, male and female, from the wee bit of a youngster to those who were so advanced in age they could not walk and were compelled to take other means of conveyance, were present in the opening of the exercises at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon—and a happy crowd it was. Too. The babies laughed and cooed as if they understood the situation; the faces of the elder ones were wreathed with smiles of satisfaction, the speakers seemed at the best and most enthusiastic mood, and in all it was an occasion the like of which was never before witnessed in this city.

The exercises were opened by an invocation by Rev. Thos. P. Hay of the First Presbyterian Church, when the following program was carried out:

Address of Welcome—Hon. W. W. Hampton.

"Education and Citizenship"—Governor N. B. Broward.

Music—Grunthal's Orchestra.

"The Unity of the State School System"—President A. A. Murphree of Florida Female College, Tallahassee.

"The University of the State of Florida"—Hon. N. P. Bryan, Chairman Board of Control.

Benediction—Rev. Thos. P. Hay.

At the conclusion of the literary exercises, the ladies of the city held an informal reception, which afforded an opportunity to the students to meet the people. This feature was also very pleasant and easy, as it was entirely informal, and everyone mingled with a freeness and understanding that everybody had the right to know everybody."

During the exercises the magnificent buildings were open for inspection of the public, and the halls and various departments were thronged at all times.

The following is the faculty of the University for the year:

Andrew Sledd, Ph. D. LL. D., President and Acting Professor of Philosophy.

Jas. M. Farr, A. M., Ph. D., Vice-President and Professor of English.

W. F Yocum, A. M., D D., Professor of Education.

Edward R. Flint, B. S., Ph. D. M. D., Professor of Chemistry.

M. T. Hochstresser, B. S., M. E., Professor of Mechanical Engineering and Drawing.

Karl Schmidt, A. M. Ph. D., Professor of Mathematics and Astronomy.

E. H. Sellads, M. A., Ph, D, Professor of Zoology and Geology.

J. R. Benton, A. B., Ph D., Professor of Physics and Civil Engineering.

David Yancey Thomas, A. M., Ph. D. Professor of History and Political Science.

Jas. N. Anderson, A. M., Ph. D., Professor of Latin and Greek.

C. L. Crow, M. A., Ph. D., Professor of Modern Languages.

N. H. Cox, B. S., Assistant Professor of Civil and Mechanical Engineering.

W. L. Floyd, B. S., Assistant Professor of Biology and Physics.

Other Officers.

W. P Jernigan, Auditor and Bookkeeper.

J. A. Forsyth, Physical Director.

W. S Cauthen, Librarian,

Mrs. S. J. Swanson, Matron.

L. C. Algee, Stenographer.

The day's exercises were closed with a dance at the opera house Thursday night, which was well attended by the students and the young people of the city. The music was furnished by Grunthal's orchestra.

Dr. Andrew Sledd, president of the University, announced at the close of exercises that the State Board of Education had established a scholarship to be known as "The Trustee Scholarship;" the faculty have established a scholarship to be known as the "Faculty Scholarship," and the Gainesville Board of Trade had established a scholarship known as the "Gainesville Scholarship." Each of these scholarships are valued at $100.

The Board of Control has named the two buildings of the University "Thomas Hall" and "Buckman Hall"

The students have settled down to business, and will help to make the present year one of the most successful to be recorded in the University.

Telegram From Mr. Holloway.

Hon. W. M. Holloway, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, who is one of the best friends the people of Gainesville ever had, having been detained in Tallahassee on account of illness, sent the following felicitous telegram to Dr. Andrew Sledd, president of the University of Florida:

"Tallahassee, Florida, Sept. 27, 1906. Dr. Andrew Sledd, President University of Florida, Gainesville, Fla.: Convey to the people of Gainesville my sincere regrets that I cannot be present. I congratulate you upon the auspicious opening of the University, and express the hope that this brilliant beginning may be the earnest of greater things for higher education in Florida. With cordial greetings and best wishes, W. M Holloway, State Superintendent Public Instruction."

MR. HILL'S OPINION.

Says Citrus Fruit Crop from Tacoma and Other Points Will be Large.

L. J. Hill has returned from Tacoma, Kirkwood, Micanopy and other points, where he has been to investigate the prospects of the orange crop.

Mr. Hill states that he has visited several groves, all of which are prosperous, and he predicts that in the section visited there will be not less than sixty thousand boxes of oranges the coming season.

One of the finest groves visited was the grove of B. F. Fontaine, more familiarly known as the Slaughter grove. This grove will produce an abundance of fine oranges and grape fruit the coming year, and as an evidence of this fact Mr. Hill brought a fine cluster of grape fruit with him, which is on exhibition at Weston's store.

THE UNIVERSITY HIGH SCHOOL WILL OPEN MONDAY MORNING

Prospects Are Brighter Than For Several Years.

A MEETING OF TEACHERS

Was Held Saturday Morning, When All Arrangements Were Completed For the Opening of the School—Great Enthusiasm Was Manifested.

An interesting teachers' meeting of the University High School faculty was held Saturday morning at the principal's office, in which the work of the year was discussed and general plans for the coming session made out.

The meeting was a most pleasant and harmonious one, and from expressions gathered by the reporter from both parties, the principal and his faculty seem to be mutually pleased with each other. This is as it should be, and The Sun ventures to predict that the coming session will be one of the most successful and satisfactory in the entire history of the school.

The following is the assignment of teachers for the present session: First grade, Miss Mabel Sanchez and Miss Maud Lewis; second grade, Miss Florence Balis; third grade, Miss Annie DaCosta; fourth grade, Miss Cylla Kennedy; fifth grade, to be filled; sixth grade, Miss Serena Shannon; seventh grade, Mrs. W. S. Cawthon; eighth grade, Mrs. W. P. Coffey; High School, Miss Mary E. Trotter and Miss Gussie Miller.

Of the teachers of last year retained on the faculty nothing need be said. They have proved their ability and their interest in the children and the school, and The Sun desires to congratulate the community upon the fact that they have been retained. The new teachers all come highly recommended and are ladies of refinement, culture and successful experience.

The session of 1906 7 will start out under favorable auspices. With the proper interest, encouragement and co-operation on the part of the patrons, we may confidently look forward to a prosperous and successful year for our school. Gainesville ought to have the best high school in the State, and we see no reason why it should not now soon do so.

We call attention to some important announcements with regard to the opening session tomorrow in another column.

To Form Military Company.

Sandersville, Ga., Sept. 29.—On account of the recent trouble in Atlanta, citizens here thought it wise to take some steps looking to the better protection of our little city in the event of riot, or other disturbances, and to this end all the young men in town were enrolled with the view of organizing another military company for Washington county. Some 60 or 70 names were put on the list, and the steps necessary to the organization of the new company has been taken. Mayor Cheatham is behind the movement and there is no doubt the work of organization will be pushed through.

TO JAIL WITHOUT BAIL SENTENCE OF COURT

Interesting Hearing in Case of William Thomas.

MANY WITNESSES EXAMINED

A Brilliant Array of Talent Engaged, But Justice Colman, After Considering Evidence, Ruled that Thomas Must be Deprived of Liberty.

The preliminary trial of William Thomas upon the charge of killing Maxie Scofield at Bell on the afternoon of September 24, which has caused so much interest in the county since its occurrence, took up the attention of Justice Colman of this district during nearly all of Saturday, with the result that the defendant was remanded to jail without bail to await the action of the grand jury at the fall term of the circuit court of Alachua county, which meets in November.

The history of this case is familiar to all, as the parties connected on both sides are prominent and well known. It may be mentioned, however, to refresh the memory of some who have not kept up with the proceedings, that William Thomas, at the front gate of his home in Bell, shot and killed Maxie Scofield about two o'clock on the afternoon of the 24th inst., the dispute having arisen over the small matter of fourteen crossties. Both men were engaged in the crosstie business at Bell.

In some manner, notwithstanding, it is said, that the teamsters had been cautioned to examine the marks of his ties and the ties of the deceased, a load of fourteen crossties with the mark of Scofield were hauled and placed in Thomas' "pile." This was what really led to the homicide.

Thomas shot Scofield at his (Thomas') own gate, after, it was said by witnesses on the stand, he had invited Thomas to come out and settle the matter. These witnesses, or some of them, testified that Scofield carried a pistol in his right trouser pocket.

Thomas surrendered to Deputy Sheriff Walker at Bell, and was given a preliminary hearing before Justice S. O. Barron, when a number of witnesses were examined. The evidence being considered by Justice Barron of a justifiable nature, Thomas was released, but was rearrested and brought to Gainesville, where there was another arraignment before Justice Colman, Saturday.

There were a large number of witnesses before this court, and the following were examined: L. R. Weeks, Henry Lancaster, Edward Sullivan (colored), Hubert Simmons, Miss Allie Starling, R. Lancaster, H. M. Whitfield, Mack Parrish.

These were all witnesses summoned for the State, and testified about the same. They all stated, with the exception of Miss Starling, that they were present or in the immediate vicinity at the time of the killing, and that they heard the conversation relative to the crossties in question, and had heard Mr. Thomas tell Scofield that the ties had been hauled to his "pile" by mistake, and that he (Thomas) would have them returned immediately after his teams were in harness again.

These witnesses stated that Mr. Scofield, the deceased, became quite angry, and that he stood at Thomas' gate and challenged him to come out, "bring his gun and all his shooting utensils," and go home with him, or half way, and they would settle the matter without delay. Witnesses (or some of them) saw a pistol in the right-hand trouser pocket of Scofield, and noted that he kept his hand in this pocket, apparently with a readiness to pull the pistol. All witnesses who were present testified that Thomas remarked, "Go away, Maxie, I don't want to have any trouble with you, for we can settle that in some other way," to which Scofield replied that he would settle it right now. He again warned him to go and get his gun and settle the matter "now and forever." Thomas again remonstrated with him, the witness said, about swearing at his gate, saying: "Maxie, if you have no respect for me, have respect for my wife and children," to which Scofield replied that he wanted satisfaction now. Thomas, after a few moments' argument, went into the house and got his shotgun. He returned to the piazza, when Scofield was still clinging to the fence about five or six feet distant from the front piazza. He showed him the gun, the witnesses declared, with the remark, "Maxie, here it is." Mr. Scofield replied, "I see it," when he attempted to withdraw his hand from his pocket, and Thomas fired. The load of buckshot entered Scofield's head, and he fell back and expired immediately, when Thomas surrendered to the officers.

One witness declared on the stand that on the morning of the murder Mr. Scofield had told him that he would "put Thomas' light out," or would make Thomas kill him before long.

After the examination of witnesses and argument of counsel, Thomas was bound over to the circuit court without bail. The attorneys for the defense, Cols. B. A. Thrasher, Evans Haile and Judge Syd L. Carter, announced that they will institute habeas corpus proceedings in an endeavor to secure the defendant's release on bail.

Attorney J. M. Rivers represented the State in this case.

"How to Tell a Man From Chicago," the subject of a wholly superfluous editorial in The Chicago Tribune: A man from Chicago always tells it "himself," as soon as he gets a chance—though why he does this nobody has ever been able to figure out.

The first Saturday in October is Orphanage or Work Day. The Florida Baptist Orphanage, Arcadia, Fla., asks that everybody in the State give to the home the earnings for that day. A year ago the responses to a similar appeal were very gratifying.

And now the occupation of the industrious silkworm is gone, its place being taken by the vulgar pine tree. Says in Harper's Magazine for September, Robert Kennedy Duncan of the University of Kansas tells about the "wonders of cellulose" in this way: "A pine tree is worth $10 a ton, cut and stripped it is worth $15, boiled to pulp it is worth $40, bleached it is worth $55, which, turned into cellulose and spun into silk is worth $5,500." There is an opportunity for someone to figure out the value of the pine forests of Florida.

The most important part of the training of boys is to insist on their being exact and accurate in everything connected with money. A boy should have an allowance at an early age and live within it. He should be taught by example or precept that moneymaking is the greatest thing in life. He should be made to feel that he must cheat or gamble or borrow without paying. An abhorrence of debt should be instilled into a boy's mind at a very youthful age, and we would have fewer shipwrecks of men, fewer embezzlements, fewer ruined names and blighted homes if honesty were the cornerstone of home education.

WHY GO TO COLLEGE?

We are often asked, should a young man or woman go to college? Now-a-days the thing of going to college or not is in the air. We hear it discussed a great deal and hear many arguments both for and against a college course. As to the propriety of it, let it be said that it all depends on so many circumstances that a direct answer is impossible. That every young man or woman should go to college is just as nonsensical as that no one should go at all. Real genius is independent of all conditions, and hence some of the world's greatest men never entered a college door. Such was the case of Abraham Lincoln. It always seems to us that a college education would have spoiled him and crippled his rare genius. But all such men have a training of some kind equal to a college education.

But on the other hand, all other things being equal, a college education is necessarily of great value. Because a few, or even many college graduates are "asses," is no argument against the college. The college cannot change the nature of men or women. If they go into college as impracticables they will as a rule come out the same. A college develops, but does not create. It is an artificial institution and not a supernatural one. The question of going to college or not can only be solved by knowing the man or woman, the college and the circumstances incident to the case. Here, as in all cases, every tub must stand on its own bottom. Individuality must be consulted. Many persons will not take an education any more than some coarse rough stones will not take a polish. To attempt to educate them is to throw away time and money. It is to encourage false ambitions and to breed disappointments. On the contrary, supposing the possession of a good mind and character, there is nothing that can add to its power and usefulness like a college education. Here the mind is taught to work. The foundation may be laid for all future growth and development. A college education of the right kind and in the care of the right person is capital invested, and well invested. It is not simply a money investment, but also a mind and heart investment, and brings pleasure and enjoyment to all the subsequent life. Hence go to college, if at all possible.

Col. T. J. L. Brown of the State Fair Association returned to Tampa this week from Terre Haute, Chicago and other Northern cities, where he went for the purpose of securing amusement attractions for the coming Fair. He secured a number of the finest attractions ever brought to the South, which, for the most part, will be used in the great Hippodrome. This feature will equal the best shows seen at the largest expositions during the last decade. He also booked a large number of race horses, runners and harness, for the State Fair races, which will last ten days. The Fair is being thoroughly advertised throughout the country by the railroads and Fair Association and the attendance of home-seekers will be immense. The Seaboard Air Line and the Atlantic Coast Line alone are advertising the Fair in more than a hundred of the leading newspapers in the Northwest and East. Col. Brown will leave in a few days for New York, where he will secure additional attractions for the great Fair.

Grand Rapids, Mich., is the furniture center of the world. It picks its lumber from every forest and sends it out all over the United States and to Europe, South America, Africa and Australia, in the shape of beds, tables, chairs and office furniture. There are at this writing lumber camps in Mexico and Central America chopping out mahogany for these factories, agents are stationed at Liverpool to buy up the best timber brought in from South America and Africa for Grand Rapids, and there is scarcely a hardwood section noted for its fine lumber which is not tributary to this point. Grand Rapids has 532 factories, employing over 20,000 hands, with a daily pay-roll of over $50,000. The most of the factories are devoted to furniture, and some of them are enormous.

The Board of Control paid a just tribute in naming the two dormitories of the State University, designating the one to the west "Thomas Hall," in honor of Major W. R. Thomas, the leader in the campaign for the location of the University at Gainesville, and the one to the east "Buckman Hall," in honor of Senator Buckman, author of the new school law.

If the Everglades are capable of producing the crops Governor Broward says they are—which is all imagination on his part—the land owners in other sections of the State would be fools to vote to drain them, as that territory, when drained—according to the Governor—would be capable of producing crops to such an extent as to put farmers in other portions of the State out of business. According to the Governor's statement the drainage of the Everglades would make paupers of every farmer in Florida north of the Caloosahatchee.

Ex Governor Jennings has caused the arrest of Alfred St. Clair-Abrams, editor of The Tavares Herald, and A. K. Taylor, the cartoonist, on the charge of criminal libel. Mr. Abrams made serious charges against the ex-Governor and published a cartoon illustrative of the article. It is claimed that Mr. Taylor drew the cartoon. The warrant was served in Jacksonville, where the trial will occur.

The United States has been compelled to intervene in the affairs of Cuba and Secretary of War Taft has proclaimed himself provisional Governor. It is doubtful if the Cubans will ever again have a stable government and that the United States will have to annex the island.

The Times-Union says Fred Stafford, sentenced from the circuit court of Lake county, to fifteen years in the convict camps on the charge of burglary, on Wednesday last, escaped from the Blue Creek camp, located at Thelma, Fla., and nothing has been seen or heard from him to date.

The two H's, Hearst and Hughes, will be the center of attraction on the political stage for the next five weeks, during which time New York will experience a red-hot campaign. There will be millions of money spent by both sides and the political heelers will be in their glory.

The Palm Beach News now has the most beautiful heading of any Florida newspaper. The first page of the issue of September 28th was especially attractive with the new heading and a fine half-tone cut of the palatial winter home of George B. Cluett of Troy, N. Y.

We are in receipt of The Hustler, a weekly paper published at Wildwood by S. A. Fackler. The editor is well known in Florida newspaper circles and has the best wishes of the entire press for the success of his venture.

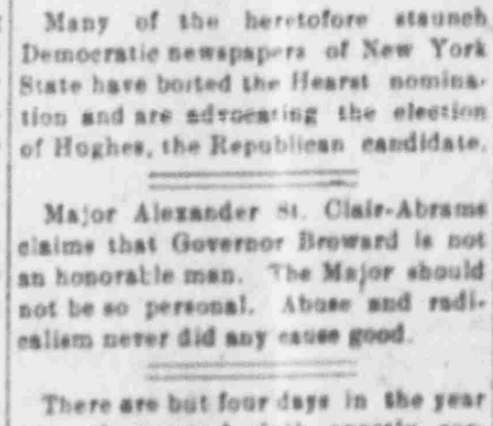
The storm which struck Pensacola on Friday was the worst the city has experienced in its history. The damage is estimated at five million dollars, and several lives are reported to have been lost.

Many of the heretofore staunch Democratic newspapers of New York State have boited the Hearst nomination and are advocating the election of Hughes, the Republican candidate.

Major Alexander St. Clair-Abrams claims that Governor Broward is not an honorable man. The Major should not be so personal. Abuse and radicalism never did any cause good.

There are but four days in the year when the sun and clock exactly correspond. In other words, there are but four days of the 365 in which the sun is directly south at noon.

Sentiment in favor of municipal ownership of the gas and electric light plants is steadily growing in Atlanta, as it is in nearly every Southern municipality.



SERMONETTES

Make yourself worth while.

God makes the sunshine; we make the clouds.

Truth cannot be afraid of being questioned.

Justice is the measure of absolute compensation.

Quit quarreling with fate. Dominate your circumstances.

We need less advice on how to get a job, and more on how to hold one.

Inherited millions sometimes rob one of his native right to make a living.

Existence is one great drama; but you have the choice to see what you wish.

Somewhere beyond the curve of your world there is a harbor—the harbor of your hopes.

If you would hold in abeyance the waves on the sea of time, hold to the inspirations of your youth.

Your fate is in your fingers to be unravelled just like the patient girl unravels the tangled thread.

It is certain that those who own the implements of production are to be the masters of the many who use them.

It is a mighty hope that makes men. And they are brightest when like stars they break through the rifting clouds of fear.

Some act as though every reason for work had been stolen from them—and yet they wage relentless war on thieves.

Too many strong men are contented to sing around barber shops in minor keys, or to accept the destiny of a cigarette, hammock-swinger.

There are gold-burdened children done by as we would not treat the horse. Forever haltered in the stall—a life without work, and full of provender and drink.

Children lavish their affections on dolls. How natural it is that we grown folks turn to images of flesh. There's an inexpressible pathos about that person for whom no one seems to care in particular.

I grow tired watching men spend their days on affairs far beneath their powers. Many a pointer-pup wastes his energies pointing sparrows in the park. He needs some one to take him afield. So do you.

Are you The Young Man in a Hurry? Just as well draw the line now between fame and notoriety. You can't break in on a restless, wide-awake world. The many gates are wide open—but you must pass that way.

The man who broods over an existence merely eked out, and faces penury and want as the shadows lengthen, will surely back into some cave of refuge. He at last accepts a theory of despiration hurtful to himself, or embraces a doctrine that makes him a social element. Why wonder over it? Leaning forever on a slavish hoe, gazing into a starless future, of necessity runs one mad.

True, you are but one small star in the depths of a stellar waste. And yet to go at a tangent means wreck and ruin. To move in your appointed sphere adds your needful part to swell the harmony that is called "the music of the spheres." No star so small but its designated movement enlarges the beauty of a starlit night; no star so small but its erratic motion would jar a universe.

A hunter in the Alleghanies one day shot a large bald eagle. The bird measured seven feet, two inches, from tip to tip. When the sportsman went to examine his prize he was astonished to find one of the eagle's claws held firmly in a powerful steel trap, to which was attached a chain five feet long. The trap and chain had many marks of vicious blows from the eagle's beak, showing how he had vainly tried to free himself. While they had not been heavy enough to prevent his flying, the hunter believed that they so impeded and worried him as to be the cause of bringing the great bird within range of his rifle. Many a man with brain, imagination and heart capable of high flight, has been brought within range of the enemy by some secret paralysis that held him from his place among the stars.

England has a tradition that in the far-away age of chivalry, when Bernard started his crusade, an English soldier boy went forth to rescue the Savior's tomb. Years afterward he returned, without gold, without jewels, clothed in rags, emaciated, wounded and dying. But from the far-away land, wrapped in his little wallet, he brought a few seeds that he had taken from a flaming flower. "It's all that I have brought back," whispered the dying soldier boy to his mother. Hiding her tears, his mother told him he had given her no pain, but only pride and joy. When she buried her soldier boy she planted the seeds upon his grave. Springing up, the little plant burst into scarlet bloom. Spreading from that little garden, the bright flowers traveled over Devonshire, and so were carried into all the gardens of the British Isles, and came with our Pilgrim Fathers to this far-off land. O, beautiful story—the story of the geranium and the rose!

It is a reliable remedy, made by an old reliable firm, and gives greater satisfaction than any other medicine of its kind. It is just the medicine that you require in the spring.

Danger from the Plague.

There's grave danger from the plague of coughs and colds that are so prevalent, unless you take Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Mrs. Geo. Walls of Forest City, Me., writes: "It's a Godsend to people living in climates where coughs and colds prevail. I find it quickly ends them. WILL GO TO ARCHER.

Woodmen of the World Will Institute Lodge in That Town.

From Saturday's Daily Sun.

The members of Alachua Camp No. 5, Woodmen of the World, are anticipating a great trip for next Monday, as they have been designated as the lodge to install a new lodge of this order at Archer.

Council Commander Joseph Brooks, Ph. DD. M. F., etc., of Alachua Camp, who is a very enthusiastic Woodman, has been spending most of his time the present week in getting a team together especially for this occasion, and he assured a Sun representative last night that everything was in readiness.

Commander Brooks has ordered that the goat from Alachua Camp be fed especially well, and requests all members to donate their proportion of tin cans, etc., so that the appetite of this animal may be appeased, for he is regarded as a very dangerous goat. He will be used in the ceremonies at Archer.

Indications are that a large number of Woodmen will attend these instituting ceremonies, which promise to be among the most enjoyable in the history of the order in Florida.

Doctors Said He Would Not Live.

Peter Fry, Woodruff, Pa., writes: "After doctoring for two years with the best physicians in Waynesborg, and still getting worse, the doctors advised me if I had any business to attend to, I had better attend to it at once, as I could not possibly live another month, as there was no cure for me. Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended to me by a friend, and I immediately sent my son to the store for it, and after taking three bottles I began to get better, and continued to improve until I was entirely well." J. W. McCollum & Co.

Bryan in Indian Territory.

Vinita, I. T., Sept. 28.—William J. Bryan spent a strenuous day in the territory Thursday, speaking here, at Chelsea, Claremore and at other points on his trip northward. Mr. Bryan arrived in Vinita early today from Muscogee. He was escorted by 400 horsemen to a grove near town. There he spoke for an hour and much enthusiasm was displayed. He departed from Vinita immediately after he had concluded his speech.

Nothing to Fear.

Mothers need have no hesitancy in continuing to give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to their little ones, as it contains absolutely nothing injurious. This remedy is not only perfectly safe to give small children, but is a medicine of great worth and merit. It has a world wide reputation for its cures of coughs, colds and croup and can always be relied upon. For sale by all druggists.

Will Dismiss the Price Case.

Washington, Sept. 28.—In view of a dispatch received by the postoffice department from the postmaster at Atlanta that J. L. Price, the negro who was arrested charged with supplying ammunition to the blacks, had been released, no further action is contemplated.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

NEW SCHOOL BAGS.

First National Bank Made Big Hit on Advertising Its Business.

The First National Bank may be listed among the most progressive institutions in the city. This accounts in a large measure for the success of the First National, as Cashier Taylor believes in keeping before the public the only national bank in Alachua county.

The bank has just received a quantity of school bags, which they intend to give away to the school children. As a matter of course the advertisement of the bank is printed upon the bag, but that does not interfere with the convenience of the bag or the accommodation of those who have occasion to use it.

Cashier Taylor stated Friday that he would give these bags away to the pupils of the high schools and inasmuch as they are constructed of durable material they will be appreciated by those who need them.

Wounds, Bruises and Burns.

By applying an antiseptic dressing to wounds, bruises, burns and like injuries before inflammation sets in, they may be healed without maturation and in about one-third the time required by the old treatment. This is the great discovery and triumph of modern surgery. Chamberlain's Pain Balm acts on this same principle. It is an antiseptic and when applied to such injuries causes them to heal very quickly. It also allays the pain and soreness and prevents any danger of blood poisoning. Keep a bottle of Pain Balm in your home and it will save you time and money, not to mention the inconvenience and suffering such injuries entail. For sale by all druggists.

Albany Moves Against Dives.

Albany, Ga., Sept. 28.—At a joint meeting of the police commissioners and the city council a campaign against the negro barroom dives and the vagrant class of negroes was inaugurated. An ordinance constituting a radical departure from existing regulations forbidding a person to remain in a saloon when not patronizing the bar or actually engaged in a game of pool or billiards was adopted. The police force was increased one man, and the commission was authorized to employ indefinitely as many extra policemen as may be necessary to make the new ordinance effective. Good negroes are not to be interfered with, but the vagrant will be made to go to work or to other fields.

An Awful Cough Cured.

"Two years ago our little girl had a touch of pneumonia, which left her with an awful cough. She had spells of coughing, just like one with the whooping cough and some thought she would not get well at all. We got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which acted like a charm. She stopped coughing and got stout and fat," writes Mrs. Ora Bossard, Brubaker, Ill. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

TRIAL OF CASES OF BIGAMY.

Interesting Week For Pickens County Superior Court.

Jasper, Ga., Sept. 28.—Pickens superior court adjourned Wednesday after a two day's session. Three cases of bigamy were the only cases of any importance disposed of.

Bunk Walkie was given two years in the penitentiary for running away with and marrying Mary Smith, the wife of one Brackett. The woman was fined $50 and costs, upon recommendation of the jury.

A young sister of Mary Brackett, who was the wife of one Godfrey and married a brother of Walkie in this county, was fined $25 and costs, she being a child. All the parties lived in Ducktown, Tenn., and came into this county about the first of August, and were followed by the former husbands, apprehended and tried here.

Don't Be Imposed Upon.

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. These worthless imitations have similar sounding names. Beware of them. The genuine Foley's Honey and Tar is in a yellow package. Ask for it and refuse any substitute. It is the best remedy for coughs and colds. J. W. McCollum & Co.

America Owns Palma's Island.

Washington, Sept. 28.—It is said at the state department that no doubt exists as to the American ownership and control of Palma's Island, one of the small islands on the southeastern edge of the Philippines. About 18 months ago the war department requested the department of state to determine whether or not Palma's Island was included in the Philippines owned by the United States.

COUNTY IS AWAKE TO GOOD ROADS

Fine Hard Road Now Being Constructed From Paradise.

MOST APPROPRIATE SYSTEM

The Commissioners Are Unselfish, and Will Devote a Mile Each Way to Help the County in the Matter of Travel. Will be Appreciated by Public.

The county commissioners have decided to begin, with other things, a new era in road-building, and will construct several miles of hard road within the next few months.

County Overseer of Roads Thigpin, with his force, was in the city Thursday. Mr. Thigpin stated that his force had just broken ground for a new clay road which is to be built from Paradise northeast toward LaCrosse, being a branch of the Gainesville and Paradise road. This road will be twelve feet wide, and will have a surface covering of ten inches at the highest thickness. Owing to the distance the material must be hauled, the cost of construction will be about $1,400.

"The question of road-building in Florida is a serious one," said Overseer Thigpin, who is a practical road-builder. "As a matter of course, in many instances we are compelled to haul the material a long ways, which means the expenditure of a great deal of money. I have read of other States building hard roads at $350 to $400 a mile, but it must be remembered that they have the clay in the pits all along the line, while in some instances we are compelled to haul it a mile or more."

Overseer Thigpin agrees with Senator Mann that the oil road is a good thing, but reminds the people that the road must be practically built before the oil is applied. The oil is more of a saving in repairs than anything else, but is a good thing, and should be applied to all roads.

The commissioners have decided to build a mile each way from the roads already constructed, which means that at least four miles of new road will be constructed under this rule.

BOY SHOT AT MICANOPY.

Young Son of Dr. W. C. Johnson Shot While Examining Pistol.

Information comes from Micanopy to the effect that William Johnson, fourteen years of age, and Gus Robbitt, a companion, were examining or fooling with a pistol Friday afternoon, when the piece was discharged, the ball entering young Johnson's head.

It is a miracle that the lad still lives, as parties who came from Micanopy stated that the ball, a 32-caliber size, passed through his head. While the wound is a painful one and may prove fatal, the lad was resting easily at last accounts—at least, as easily as could be expected under the circumstances.

Friends of Dr. Johnson and the lad sympathize with them over this accident.

CARD FROM PROF. M'BEATH.

Issues Letter Regarding the Opening of School Monday Morning.

To the Patrons of the University High School:

The school will open Monday, October 1, at 9 o'clock a. m. Your careful attention is respectfully invited to the following important announcements for the opening session:

1. Chapel exercises for the opening morning will begin promptly at 9 o'clock. There will be addresses by the County Superintendent and members of the Board of Trustees and others.

2. A cordial invitation is extended to the patrons of the school to be present, and it is earnestly hoped all who can make it convenient to do so will accept. Their presence would be taken as an expression of interest and would be a help and a source of gratification, both to teachers and pupils.

3. As the day will be given over entirely to organization, and as the session will not last longer than noon, pupils are requested not to bring either books or lunches. The work of the morning will consist of assigning the pupils to proper classes, furnishing them with lists of necessary books, announcement of lessons for Tuesday, and other preliminary matters.

4. Pupils of last session are requested to bring their graduation cards in order that they may be assigned without delay or the necessity of undergoing examination. Parents will please see to this matter, as a favor both to the children and to the teachers.

5. Parents are urged to start their children in promptly Monday morning, as the first day of school is one of the most important of the whole session. It is desired to complete the organization Monday so as to take up, Tuesday morning, promptly the regular work of each grade.

Trusting that we will have a full attendance both of pupils and patrons to give the session a good "send off," I remain, Sincerely yours,

TOM F. MCBEATH, Principal.

P. S.: All children above the first grade are requested to bring tablet and pencil tomorrow morning.
